If you are unable to find our products in a market near you, please send us an email at info@hemplers.com indicating where you live, the name of the market where you typically shop, and which products you wish to purchase. We'll work with the distributors to try to broaden their market area to include you.

You can also provide your local market representatives with our email address, website name, or telephone number. We'd be happy to work with them to make our products available to their customers.
